

E.E. Eidman – Contemporary Artist
860-745-6206

Most people know me as Sam Dupuis, some as Evelyn E. Dupuis, but in my other life I'm E.E. Eidman (maiden name)... ARTIST! Art is a passion that has always controlled my life in some way, shape or form. From the very beginning it was young people's art classes, art editor of the high school newspaper, 3-D welding at Syracuse University during the summer and art courses at SUNY Binghamton, NY. Art, art, art - I loved it all.

After graduation painting became avocation as I entered the creative world of "Advertising and Marketing". Over the years I've been a newspaper copy layout artist, interior store and window designer, television graphics and continuity writer and finally print designer... always honing my creative skills while earning a living. And what a journey it has been... Gannet Newspapers, High Fashion Interior Design, ABC Television, WGBY-TV Public Broadcasting, a series of New England printing companies, my own, one person Advertising Agency (still in operation) and a chance to return to the serious art world with my own Art and Frame Restoration business. Today, I balance advertising, restoration art and contemporary painting on a daily basis... loving each as I would a child that I have patiently nurtured for many years.

Memberships: Tobacco Valley Artists Association, Connecticut
Women Artists Collective, Connecticut
Innovative Artists Society, Connecticut